

SEAN RAMKARANSINGH

PERSONAL

Mr. Ramkaransingh was born to Immigrant parents in New York. At an early age his parents instilled in him the value of hard work and compassion towards all. He is a single father to two wonderful kids and has resided in North Carolina for the last twenty-five years.

EDUCATION

Sean graduated Wantagh High School with honors and went on to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he received his degree in political Science. After working for Chatham County schools for a year he received his law degree from the University of San Diego School of Law.

EXPERIENCE

Mr. Ramkaransingh began his career as an assistant district attorney and handled misdemeanors and felonies. After a few years he joined the firm of Browne, Flebotte, Wilson and Horn to practice criminal defense. He later left the firm and started a solo practice that focused on criminal defense for indigent clients. Sean has represented clients with charges ranging from larceny to homicide.

VISION

Mr. Ramkaransingh believes all his prior professional experience has given him the necessary skills to be an effective Chief Public Defender. He looks forward to working with the immensely talented lawyers and staff that are already in the office and to continue to provide excellent representation to indigent clients. Sean would also like to build a better relationship between the public defender office and the private defense attorneys. He is thankful for your consideration and would appreciate your support.
